Hi Scott,

Welcome back (I think)! Hope you had a great vacation.

See below from Amy O'Hair. When you get a chance to update your team's website, can you give Amy a heads up that there's new content up? I don't think it's hugely urgent, but it looks like Sunnyside is keeping tabs on both of us.

We should also find a time for an onboarding meeting with Amy. How's your availability in the next few weeks? Also looping in Jeremy and Joe—do you want to join for this conversation or just be aware of when it's happening?

Best,
Emily

Hi Amy and all,

Thanks for flagging this. I'll work with Tom to get the last few CAC meetings' minutes and audio recordings posted.

We can also add links from the CAC website to the development team's website, where they post content from the events they've hosted. It looks like they have some catch-up to do, too.

We're splitting the content between the two websites because we need to be clear which events which City-sponsored CAC events (which require a more formal process) and developer-sponsored events (which can be more informal and interactive, although we also help to publicize them).

Best,
Emily

Subject: Minutes, etc, on the BRCAC page

Hi Emily,

I know it's vacation time for many people, but we are wondering if the usual documents from the last four meetings such as minutes -- including whatever relevant notes from non-meeting events like the walk are appropriate -- could please be made available on the BRCAC page.

Thank you--

-Amy
